PARIS, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1914.

LATE WAR NEWS.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—It was announced here early to-day that the right wing of the German armies operating in France had been encircled by the allies.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The correspondent of the Times at Paris says: "Terrible stories are reaching Paris of piles of dead and wounded which encumber the battlefields of the Marne and the Red Cross in working night and day. At one place, it is said, the Germans erected a barrier six feet high of corpses behind which to resist the French. This barrier was carried after a terrific struggle by the French forces, leaving 7,500 dead on the battlefield."

WILSON REPLIES TO PROTEST OF KAISER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Wilson to-day replied to the message recently received from Emperor William protesting against the alleged use by the allied armies of dum-dum bullets. He said that he had read the communication with the gravest concern, but that it would be unwise and premature for the United States to express any final judgment in the controversy.

The message was almost identical with the speech made by the President to the Belgian commission which protested against alleged German atrocities.

A cablegram replying to the protest of President Poincare of France, who charged that the Germans were using dum-dum bullets was also prepared.

It was not made public, but was known to follow closely the text of the President's message to Emperor William.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The official press bureau issued the following announcement to-night:

"It is stated from Russian official sources that the route of the Austrian army in Galicia is complete, though full details have not been received. The Austrian loss since the taking of Lemberg is estimated at 250,000 killed and wounded, 100,000 prisoners and 400 guns, many colors and vast quantities of stores."

"The Germans made desperate efforts to save the Austrian army, but failed completely."

"At one point the Germans lost thirty-six pieces of heavy artillery and at another several dozen pieces of siege artillery."

PARIS, Sept. 17.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Petrograd says: "It is announced that the Turks have concentrated a large army on the Bulgarian frontier and that General Limon von Sanders, a Prussian cavalry officer, who trained the Turkish army is expected to take command."

THE BOURBON COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.

The Bourbon County Medical Society held its regular quarterly meeting and clinical division in the county court room at the court house, at 7:00 o'clock, last night.

The following program was carried out by the medics:

Reading of Committees on Baby Inspection, Etc.—Drs. W. C. Ussery, A. H. Keller, F. L. Lapsley and others.

Report of Peculiar Cases—Dr. J. T. Brown.

Report of 1914 Typhoid Cases—Dr. Frank Fithian.

General Discussion Paper of the Evening: "Further Consideration of the Treatment of Lues With Salvarsan, Hypodermic Mercury and Other Methods,"—Dr. C. G. Daugherty. Discussion opened by Dr. A. H. Keller.

Assignment of Teaching Corps in the Training of Nurses for 1914-1915. This was the last meeting to be held before the State Meeting at Newport, Ky., Sept. 23, 24 and 25, which promises to be one of the greatest ever held in the State. After the meeting the members were entertained at luncheon.

BIG ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS.

On account of the failure of the new text books to reach Paris, class work at the Paris Public Schools have been delayed. The enrollment of pupils is exceeding expectations, the number already enrolled now being over 700. The seating capacity of the school is already overcrowded, owing to the unexpected large attendance, and Superintendent Hendricks and his assistants are confronted with a big problem in regard to providing adequate class room facilities.

There is no questioning the fact that our schools are overcrowded and something must be done to relieve the congestion. The matter of an addition to the present building was brought before the City Council some time ago by the members of the Board of Education, but action was deferred because of the present financial condition.

AGED FARMER SUICIDES

At Carlisle yesterday, Joseph W. Dabell, a prominent farmer of Nicholas County, aged 75 years, shot himself in the abdomen with a shotgun after going to the Carlisle Cemetery. He propped the gun with a stick set in the trigger and discharged it by striking the trigger with a forked stick. The wound is probably fatal.

TRAVELING MAN IN BAD.

O. J. Anderson, a traveling salesman formerly in the employ of the Grand Rapids Showcase Co., at Grand Rapids, Mich., and claiming Chicago as his home, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Mr. W. W. Mitchell, of the clothing firm of Mitchell & Blakemore, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Anderson, who had been here trying to close up a sale, came to Mr. Mitchell, and obtained $35 on a draft payable by his firm. Mr. Mitchell telegraphed the firm asking if they would honor the draft, and received a reply that Anderson was no longer in their employ, and that they would not be responsible. He was arraigned before Judge January yesterday afternoon and his trial set for Monday. Anderson is accompanied by his wife and child. A subscription paper was in circulation yesterday to make up the amount due Mr. Mitchell, and Anderson was released, his family being peniless.

BIBLE CLASSES WILL MEET

The Bible classes of Paris, Richmond and Winchester Christian churches will meet with the Hadelrigg Bible Class of the Mt. Sterling Christian church in that city, next Sunday. A special train will arrive at Mt. Sterling from Winchester about 9:30, and will be met by the full membership of the Hadelrigg Bible class. The Bible classes of all the churches in Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county are expected to be present and take part in the program, and help in extending a hearty welcome to the visitors. Manager Wilkerson has kindly tendered the use of the Tabb Opera House in Mt. Sterling for holding the meeting, and the class will be taught there Sunday morning.

After the services the visitors will be served luncheon at Trimble's Hall by the ladies of the Christian church. It is expected that fully 1,000 Bible students will be present.

The delegation from the Paris Bible School will go to Mt. Sterling in automobiles. All who can go and who have not yet made it known are requested to report to Mr. P. J. McCord at the Paris post office, and be ready to start by 7:00 o'clock Sunday morning from the Christian Church.

The class will convene at 9:30 a. m., when the welcome address to the visitors will be delivered by Major D. J. Burchett, of Mt. Sterling, and by others the responses being made on behalf of Paris by Rev. J. W. Sharfard, and by others for Richmond and Winchester. Mr. J. W. Brown, of Paris, will deliver the invocation, and Prof. T. A. Hendricks will speak for Paris in the two-minute talks allotted to each class under the general head of "Hot Shots at the Lesson."

WIRE THIEVES INDICTED.

The grand jury in the Harrison Circuit Court has returned indictments against Kirtley Renaker, Lawrence Shadd, Harry Thornberry, Ed. Fitzpatrick, Forest Carter, Russell Vaughn and Jack Lemmon, all charged with grand larceny. It is alleged the indicted men had, at various times, stolen from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company copper wire to the amount of $1,200. This wire was strung on poles alongside the railroad track, it is charged.

The indictments against the men is the result of an investigation that has been going on for some time under the direction of Special Agents of the Louisville & Nashville road, and which traced part of the loot to this city, where some of the wire had been found in the house of Cash Crowe, who escaped from the county work house some days ago. Crowe is still at large, and no tidings has come of his whereabouts.

BAYERS FILES SUIT.

Suit was filed in the Franklin Circuit Court yesterday by Thomas S. Byars, of Shelbyville, State Automobile Commissioner, to enjoin the Sinking Fund Commission from removing him from office.

He claims that he had been appointed for a term of four years, and can only be removed by impeachment. Before the suit was filed, Mr. Robert C. Talbott, of Paris, a member of the law firm of Franklin & Talbott, representing Byars, went before the commission, and learned that the commission had decided that they had the power to remove Byars.

The Grand jury had a number of witnesses before it yesterday on the report of State Inspector and Examiner Goodpaster, which discovered the alleged shortage of $1,303 on the automobile desk.

ARRIVES FROM WAR ZONE.

Prof. Orie Long, son of Mr. James R. Long, of near Millersburg, has just arrived in Boston from London. Prof. Long has been abroad all summer, having been in Germany and Belgium after the opening of hostilities in the present war. He was on the last train that ran into Ostend from Alsace-Lorraine. Before he escaped from the war zone, Prof. Long saw much of the miseries and horrors of war, and like the many others who have been near the scene, fully convinced of the truth of General Sherman's declaration that "War is hell."

TOBACCO SITUATION.

Notwithstanding the dampness caused by two-days' rain, tobacco cutting in Bourbon County progressed very favorably last week. The desire to get as much of the weed housed as possible before the frosts come on, has caused the farmers to work very hard, even keeping the bigger boys out of school in order to help forward the work.

The early crops are above the average, causing rejoicing among the growers, who feared that the recent continued drouth would render the tobacco worthless. After the fall rains came the crop revived amazingly, and is now considered to be as good as any produced in recent years. The late crop is very promising, also, and, unless caught by frost, will be equally as good as that now being cut.

Those who are in a position of authority say that the coming winter will be a very hard one upon the owners of stock. Feed will be unusually high, and many farms that under ordinary weather conditions produce abundantly, will be short of grain, hay, feed and roughage. In some sections oats was so short that it had to be cut with a mower because it could not be bound with a binder, and there was very little straw.

Live stock prices will be high, however, and that is expected to compensate somewhat for the high prices of feed.

The stock in Bourbon county will be put into winter quarters in good condition, as the pasturage is fine now.

BELOVED PASTOR DEAD.

A telephone message from Danville late yesterday afternoon brought news to relatives in this city of the death of Dr. L. H. Blanton, in that city, which had occurred late in the afternoon. Dr. Blanton had been ill for two years. Death was due to hardening of the arteries.

Dr. Blanton came to Paris in 1868 as pastor of the Presbyterian Church, succeeding Rev. D. O. Davis. The present handsome church edifice was erected during his pastorate in 1869-70 and was dedicated in 1870. During his pastorate the church membership was wonderfully increased.

Dr. Blanton resigned in 1880, and accepted the Chancellorship of Central University at Richmond. When the Centre College and Central University were merged and Danville made the seat of the institution Dr. Blanton went to Danville, where he resided to the time of his death.

He was a man of deep learning, and was universally beloved by the members of his congregation and held in high esteem by the members of other denominations and by the citizens of Paris generally.

Mr. Blanton was twice married, his first wife being Miss Irvine, of Virginia. He is survived by four children—Mrs. E. M. Dickson, of Paris; Mr. Edgar Blanton, of Richmond; Mr. Irvine Blanton, of Cynthiana; Dr. Harry Blanton, of Richmond, and Mrs. Jos. Head, of Ashland. The funeral will probably be held at Danville, though no details were given in the message.

TO NAME L. & E. STATIONS

Superintendent W. H. Anderson, of this division of the Louisville & Nashville, together with other officials of the road, have returned from a trip over the new Winchester-Irvine line of the Louisville & Nashville road, where they went for the purpose of inspecting and naming the new stations on the road. A list, subject to change has been made out and it is likely that many of the prominent citizens along the way will have the stations named in their honor, especially those through whose lands the right-of-way runs. A number of local officials of the road accompanied the party of inspection.

"OLD TAYLOR" FILMS SEEN BY HUNDREDS.

Hundreds of persons saw the motion pictures of the Old Taylor Distillery located near Frankfort in the ballroom at the Phoenix Hotel, in Lexington, Tuesday afternoon and evening. The pictures were interesting, beginning with views of Lexington and closing with pictures of the great crowds which attended the exhibition of them in New York, Boston, and Chicago. The pictures were produced and exhibited under the personal direction of J. Law Siple, of Lexington.

Miss Ellen Blanding sang a group of songs at the exhibitions with Miss Catherine Hogarty at the piano.

The pictures cover in detail the plant of the Old Taylor Company, giving one an idea of the processes through which it goes before it is ready for service. Exterior and interior views of the plant were shown.

EVANGELICAL MEETINGS

Great interest is being manifested in the series of evangelical meetings being held here by Evangelist Hamm and his co-workers. The meetings are being held in the Christian Church. The tabernacle which has been under construction in the rear of Mrs. Russell Mann's residence, on Seventh street, will be ready for services to-night.

GET THE HABIT!

IT WILL PAY!

Being unable to see all my friends and customers, I take this method of communication. As a direct result of the European conflict, nearly all the staple food stuffs have made sensational advances during the past month. Flour, Meat, Lard, Sugar, Coffee, etc., have all advanced and will probably go much higher.

The terms which the dealers now get from packers and jobbers are becoming more stringent, to carry customers for thirty days or longer and to allow for bad debts would make it necessary to tie up a great deal of capital in the business, and as this advancement in prices has also caused a stringency in the money market, it make it impossible to do business on the old basis. Owing to said conditions I have decided to put our business on

EARLY WAR NEWS.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—For once the military critics on both sides agree that the outcome of the campaign in the western area depends on the result of the operations of the Crown Prince's army before Verdun.

On the question of accomplished facts, however, the divergence of opinion is as wide as ever.

Berlin maintains that the investment of Verdun is now complete and therefore expects that within two or three days there will be a resumption of the offensive along the whole German front.

On the other hand, the latest official communication issued in behalf of the allies states that the Crown Prince has been driven back and has moved his headquarters from Sinte Menehold, south of Rheims to Mont Faucon, about 15 miles northeast.

Berlin admits that the weakened German right wing has been turned back, but discounts the reverse by maintaining that it will have no effect on the general forward movement to be initiated when Verdun falls.

Petrograd reports that although the news of damage from General Brussloff's army is lacking, and part of Gen. Ruzsky's force is still to be heard from, it is evident that the Russian generals now hope to bottle up the Austrians and their German contingents in Premysl.

Reports of operations on the East Prussian frontier are contradictory. According to Petrograd, Gen. Rennenkampf has resumed the offensive after winning an engagement on the border, while the same Russian forces report that the investment of Koenigsberg is continuing.

On the other hand, Berlin states that Rennenkampf's defeat is almost as great as the preceding Russian disaster in this region.

HERE IS WHAT GERMANY SAYS.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The German general staff to-day gave out the following official announcement:

"In the western theatre of war the right wing of our army has been engaged in heavy but undecided battles. The French, who endeavored to break through our lines were victoriously defeated.

"At another point where there has been fighting no decisive results have been reached."

GERMANS KEEP UP RESISTANCE

PARIS, FRANCE, Sept. 15.—The western and central armies of the German forces continue their resistance to-day north of the River Aisne and north of Rheims and Chalons, while the eastern army is retreating.

This is the substance of the French official communication given out this afternoon.

In the Vosges and in Alsace the situation is unchanged, the report says. In Belgium the Belgian army is continuing to operate around Antwerp causing serious losses to the enemy.

FIRST LAND ENCOUNTER BETWEEN JAPS AND GERMANS.

CHIMO, CHINA, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred Sunday, when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contesting forces at a point close to Chimo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine, but without success.

A considerable Japanese force is reported 25 miles to the north of here.

JAPS AT KIAO-CHOW.

PEKING, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Tsing-Tau of German origin declares a vanguard of City.

Kiao-Chow is about five miles outside of the Kiao-Chow boundary to the northwest.

KAISER'S FORCES FALL BACK

FIFTY MILES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Germany's armies to the north and the east of Paris, after retreating for upward of fifty miles toward the Belgian frontier a large command and a quantity tier, are to-day making a determined stand along the River Aisne.

A news agency from Dieppe says that Gen. Von Kluck has been enveloped by a French encircling movement and forced to surrender of guns and ammunition.

The German general staff, however, announced to-day that heavy engagements were being fought by Gen. Von Kluck's right wing to the northeast of Paris without a decisive result so far.

The French attempts to break the German line were said to have been repulsed.

Reports regarding the operations in East Prussia contradict each other.

From Petrograd it is said that Gen. Rennenkampf has resumed the offensive and that the investment of Koenigsberg still is in progress.

Berlin advises, however, are to the effect that the Russian General has suffered defeat nearly as severe as that of the Russian disaster at Allenstein.

AUSTRIAN GENERAL SUICIDES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Petrograd, says:

"The fiercest fighting of all that which preceded the Russian victory at Lubin was in a gorge near the village of Mikolaiff, which the Russian soldiers reverently named the 'Valley of Death.'

"The gorge was full of dead men, lying in heaps, according to a soldier who reached here to-day. 'When we attacked at 3 in the morning,' he said, 'the gorge contained fifteen thousand Austrians, a large portion of whom were mowed down by the artillery fire which plowed through the valley in the darkness.'

"The Austrians surrendered and we entered the gorge to receive their arms, while their general stood quietly on a hill watching the scene.

"Eight of his standards being turned over to the Russians was more than he could bear, for he drew a pistol and shot himself."

ENTIRELY TOO EASY

Some Folks Are Like "Tar-Baby," So Soft Their Simplicity Makes Them Dangerous.

By IVOR M. LOWRIE.

(Copyright.)
Ned Thompson looked up from the ledger upon which he was working. A customer had entered the store.

"How do you do?" The one and only clerk of the Elite Hardware Emporium greeted the prospective buyer.

"How can I serve you?"

"I want to get a hunting-knife. Something with a good-sized blade."

"Yes, sir."

Ned placed an assortment of such cutlery before the customer for inspection.

"Here's one that I can especially recommend. It is of an exceptional quality of steel, finely tempered. The handle is well constructed. In fact, we had this article manufactured for our exclusive trade."

The "we" referred to Mr. Thomas Hadley, sole proprietor of the "emporium." Being situated in Portland, the gateway to the Maine woods, Mr. Hadley thought it expedient to carry a full line of sportsmen's goods, and had, indeed, a special hunting-knife of rare excellence made. It pleased him greatly, the more so in view of the fact of its having the name of his business establishment stamped upon the blade.

"How much?" inquired the customer.

"Three dollars, and it's good value for the money."

"I'll take it," was the abrupt reply, the purchaser tendering a twenty-dollar note in payment.

"Have you nothing smaller?" asked Ned.

"No, I really haven't," the man replied, whereupon Ned placed the note in the drawer of the cash register, handing back the change.

As Ned was wrapping the package, the man reached into his trousers pocket and drew forth several notes.

"Why, I have some smaller notes after all," he exclaimed. "Just let me have that twenty, and I'll give you the exact change."

Ned reopened the drawer and handed the man the twenty-dollar note, together with the wrapped knife, receiving in exchange three one-dollar notes.

"Good day, sir." The man hurried away, and Ned resumed his work upon the ledger.

Some time later that morning Mr. Hadley entered.

As was his infallible custom upon entering the store, Mr. Hadley unlocked the cash register and balanced the cash on hand with the amount on the printed slip.

"You are seventeen dollars short!" were the electrifying words of the proprietor.

"What!"

"Seventeen dollars short. I have counted the cash several times. Here, you count it."

In a dazed state, Ned staggered to the cash register. His nervous fingers verified the other's statement.

"But, I can't fathom it. I gave out no change. Mr. Lang paid me a twenty-five-cent piece for the key, and the stranger, three one-dollar notes for the knife. At first, he presented a twenty-dollar note, but later discovered that he had the exact amount of the purchase, so gave me it, and I returned him his twenty. Oh! I see it now!"

Mr. Hadley sadly shook his head.

"No, he didn't forget—or rather, he did forget intentionally. It's an old game, Ned. I'm rather surprised that you allowed yourself to be duped by it."

"I'll repay you," agreed Ned.

"That's not the question just at present. What we want to do is to catch the fellow and jail him."

Mr. Hadley was true to his New England idea of justice.

"You would know him if you saw him?"

"Yes, sir," assured the still perturbed Ned. "He's tall—dark hair and mustache—heavy eyebrows—dark eyes—wore a dark-blue suit and a derby hat."

"Well, I'll go over to police headquarters and have them look out for him. Chances are, though, that he has lit out for Boston, or else the woods, by now."

Arriving at headquarters, he acquainted the authorities with the particulars of the theft, and was descending the stone steps to the sidewalk, when a policeman rushed up, almost colliding with him.

Recognizing Mr. Hadley, the officer called:

"Don't go. You are the very man the captain'll want to see. Come on in," and he hurried into the building, Mr. Hadley following closely.

In the captain's office the policeman reported:

"A man attempted suicide in Greeley's hotel. Lieutenant Scott called the City hospital ambulance. They've got him there by now."

"Shoot himself?" queried the captain.

"No, stabbed himself with a hunting-knife!"

A hunting-knife! Mr. Hadley and the captain exchanged glances. It was a striking coincidence.

"And," continued the policeman, "the knife is from Mr. Hadley's store!"

"How do you know it is?" demanded the "emporium's" proprietor.

"Because it's got 'The Elite Hardware Emporium, Portland, Me.' stamped on the blade."

ENDORSED AT HOME.

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Paris Person.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement, given by a resident of Paris adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

George McCandles, butcher, Paris, Ky., says: "Some time ago I had occasion to use a kidney remedy. I had bacaches and disordered kidneys. The way Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the trouble proved their merit."

Mr. McCandles is only one of many Paris people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. McCandles had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Every cloud has its silver lining. The silhouette skirts are doomed to go in a few weeks, but we will see less of pipe stem props and knock-knees:

A man won't hire a stenographer until he sees her letters of recommendation. But he never goes to that trouble when he marries a girl.

WILL PROHIBITION BE BENEFICIAL TO BOURBON?

(Advertisement.)

Granting that every man who casts a vote in the September elections will have considered the question calmly and carefully (though there will be some who have not and will not) what reason will a man have for voting against the licensed saloon?

The one great question is will it really benefit Paris and Bourbon County?

Let us first consider it from a financial standpoint. At the present time there are sixteen saloons in Paris, contributing to the city and county about twenty thousand dollars in revenue, with which to sustain our city and county governments, and public utilities. In what possible manner will it benefit us to be deprived of this revenue? If local option prevails in September the saloons must be closed according to the law, within sixty days thereafter. The money they have paid to the city and county for license, amounting to a considerable sum, will have to be refunded from the city and county treasurer. The present tax rate is already excessive. The prohibitionists claim that the tax rate is as high as the law will permit, but do not tell that the valuation of your property can be raised to make up for the loss of the revenue derived from the saloons, as is being done elsewhere.

Our prohibition friends say that the saloon keeper when forced to give up his business, can go into other business, such as groceries, dry goods, etc. Ask any Paris merchant to-day the condition of business and he will tell you it is at a low ebb. Many of them complain they are not making expenses. How will they appreciate the opening of sixteen other branches of business? Will this further division of the trade be of benefit to them?

From a moral standpoint, we would suffer as much, if not more, than from the financial side. Under the present condition, a reasonable number of protests, or any protest at all against the opening of a saloon is given a respectful hearing by the officials. Isn't it better from a moral standpoint that the sale of liquor should be governed and controlled by the officials than that it should be peddled by the bootlegger, probably in a house next door to your own?

You say that there is a law against the bootlegger is thriving in our town to them. Have they done so elsewhere? You certainly know how the bootlegger is thriving in our neighboring dry towns of Cynthia and Carlisle, and the authorities in both places candidly admit their inability to stop it. Are you bold enough to say that Paris is any different from other towns in this respect?

From a financial point attempted prohibition in Paris will be a blessing to Lexington. For years, even before the interurban was built, and to a much greater extent since, it has been bemoaned by the merchants of Paris, and weekly preached through the Paris papers, that Lexington gets the cream of the Paris trade and leave us the clabber. Do you think that condition will be benefited one iota if we force the moderate drinker to go to Lexington to get his wine, beer and whisky? Isn't it a fact that while there he will also buy a suit of clothes, or some groceries, and other necessities. Common sense alone will teach you such is the case. Then why vote to injure your business, yourself and your family?

Let the saloon run. See that they are properly regulated, and run according to law, and assist in making Paris what it should be—a live and up-to-date town, and not an annex to Lexington.

ANNUAL DIVORCE RATE

(Advertisement.)

Kansas' record in the divorce line is worse than that of thirty-one licensed States, according to the latest census figures available—those for the period of 1898-1902, after 20 years of prohibition. Her average annual divorce rate, per 100,000, was 286. Licensed States which made a better showing are as follows: Rhode Island 281, Missouri 281, Utah 274, New Hampshire 272, South Dakota 270, Illinois 267, Tennessee 267, Michigan 257, Iowa 246, Kentucky 237, Ohio 231, Nebraska 226, Florida 226, Mississippi 225, Alabama 208, New Mexico 193, West Virginia (then licensed) 183, Wisconsin 180, Vermont 177, Minnesota 161, Connecticut 130, Louisiana 127, Massachusetts 124, Virginia 117, Maryland 114, Pennsylvania 94, Georgia (then license) 78, North Carolina (then license) 75, New York 60, New Jersey 60, Delaware 43.

Divorces For Drunkenness.

In percentage of divorces granted to wives for drunkenness, 1887-1906, Kansas ranks even with both Idaho and South Dakota, license States, each having a rate of 3.1 per cent. The Kansas rate is worse than that of the following fifteen license States: Wyoming 2.7, Mississippi (then license) 2.6, Nevada 2.6, Louisiana 2.6, New Mexico 2.6, Montana 2.4, Utah 2.3, Tennessee (then license) 2.2, Arkansas 1.8, Michigan 1.6, Delaware 1.4, Colorado 0.9, North Carolina (then license) 0.7, Texas 0.4.

The percentage of illiterate persons ten years of age and over in Kansas in 1910 was 2.2. Four license States had a better record. These were: Washington 2 per cent., Oregon 1.9, Nebraska 1.9, Iowa 1.7, Idaho, another license State, tied the Kansas record, its per centage also being 2.2.

TOBACCO DEALERS MAY LOSE THEIR BUSINESS

All Warned That Fight Will Be Made to Stop Sale of Weed.

(Advertisement.)

With attacks already being made here against the use of cigarettes and many ministers seeking to prevent the sale of luxuries on Sundays, the Richmond tobacco trade, believing that the State-wide prohibition election to be held in Virginia this year will be followed by a fight against the use of tobacco, yesterday afternoon adopted resolutions designed to warn all persons engaged in the tobacco business against the "threatened attack." Copies of the resolution will be sent throughout the State.

Temperance and prohibition organizations are reported to be working in several States to have laws enacted making the manufacture, sale and use of tobacco unlawful. Laws are already in force in several States prohibiting the manufacture of cigarettes.

To close the tobacco factories in Richmond, to say nothing of other such plants in Virginia, would mean a great loss of revenue and throw thousands of persons out of work, the tobaccoists assert.

The Richmond tobacco trade urges all persons engaged in the tobacco business "to take action as will protect their tobacco interests against the unreasoning and unjustifiable attacks of extremists."

PROHIBITION RECORDS IN THE UNITED STATES.

(Advertisement.)

Twenty-four States of the Union have at one time or the other, enacted State-wide prohibition laws, and of these twenty-four States, only nine have those laws now on their statute books.

Here is what the twenty-four State have done:

Maine adopted prohibition in 1854; repealed it in 1856, and re-enacted prohibition in 1858; still on statute books.

New Hampshire adopted in 1855, tried it forty-eight years and repealed in 1903.

Vermont adopted it in 1850, tried it fifty-three years and repealed it in 1903.

Massachusetts adopted it in 1852, repealed in 1868; readopted in 1869; repealed in 1875.

Rhode Island adopted in 1852; repealed in 1863; readopted in 1886 and repealed in 1889.

Connecticut adopted in 1845, repealed in 1872.

Ohio adopted in 1851, annulled by a license tax law.

Indiana adopted in 1855, declared unconstitutional.

Wisconsin adopted in 1855, vetoed by Governor.

Michigan adopted in 1855, declared unconstitutional.

Illinois adopted in 1851, repealed in 1853.

Iowa adopted partial prohibition in 1855, full prohibition in 1884, mulct law in 1893.

Nebraska adopted in 1855, repealed in 1875.

North Dakota—Constitutional provision in 1890.

Kansas—Constitutional amendment in 1880.

South Dakota—Constitutional provision in 1890, repealed in 1896.

Georgia—Adopted prohibition in 1907, effective in 1908.

Alabama adopted in 1908, local option now.

Mississippi—Prohibition in 1908, effective in 1909.

North Carolina—Adopted Prohibition in 1909.

Tennessee—1909.

West Virginia—1912.

Fifteen of twenty-four States that enacted Prohibition laws no longer have them on their statute books. The nine States on whose statute books State-wide Prohibition laws are now written are: Maine, Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia and West Virginia.

Prohibition evidently is a failure or the people of fifteen out of twenty-four States would not have brought about repeals of the law.

PROHIBITION A DEAD FAILURE

(Advertisement.)

Before entering into the employ of the Anti-Saloon League ex-Gov. Patterson, of Tennessee, said: "Tennessee's prohibition law has resulted in more saloons, more bootlegging, more whisky sold and drunk than at any time in the history of the State, as well as increased lawlessness and a growing disrespect for law." Prohibition, as far as the law affects Tennessee, is a fraud.

"The wave of prohibition seems to have spent itself. On the whole, State-wide prohibition has hardly justified itself."—Saturday Evening Post.

"The story is the same everywhere. When the lawful saloon is closed, the illicit sale of vile liquors and injurious drugs increases. Society loses more than it gains by the change."—New York World.

$2,600 PAID FOR JACK.

Joseph E. Wright, proprietor of the Kentucky Jack Farm, which lies over the Boyle line in Lincoln county, sold to Mr. H. B. Thornberry, of Los Angeles, Cal., one of the finest jacks ever produced in Kentucky. The price paid for the jack was $2,600. This is the highest price for which a jack has ever been sold in this section of Kentucky. This jack was produced on Mr. Wright's farm, sired by Old Inca, dam by Starlight, was four years old and a magnificent specimen of the long ear stock, and attracted much attention when taken through the city. The purchaser of the jack is a multi-millionaire and will exhibit him at the Panama Exposition as the product of the Kentucky Jack Farm, Junction City, Ky.

THE TRAGEDY OF THE TONGUE

A news dispatch from Dawson Springs, Ky., to the daily papers says: "W. B. Hamby, a street preacher named Jordan, and Jordan's son, were taken out and whipped by a mob at midnight for talking too much and retelling scandal about well-known women."

Too much tongue is a bad thing. When we recall that some of the best and noblest that have ever lived have been reviled and traduced, indicted and executed by so-called "good men,"—certainly men who were sincere—how can we open our hearts to tales of discredit?

The entire witchcraft cases in Salem, Massachusetts, were nothing but cases of scandal. Much of martyrdom and bloodshed of the past can be traced to the same cause. Nations have gone to war because some prince charged that a king stuck his tongue in his cheek and bit his lips when another king was mentioned.

One peculiarity of scandal is that when it passes along from one person to another it assumes the characteristics of ptomaine poisoning. The original remark, uttered in a certain circle, may have been uttered devoid of poisonous intent, but when the repetition comes, in a different atmosphere, to different hearers, told by a different man or woman, the with that once disinfected the thing is gone, and we have only dead, stale, tainted, unprofitable stuff.

And so you see how a person who repeats an unkind remark is probably doing a much greater mischief than the one who first voiced it. The man who first repeats the story, and thus retails the poison, fails to supply the antidote. Let his name forever be silenced in oblivion. He is the promoter, the muckraker, the filth-digger.

A tragic feature of "tongue," is that those who deal in it almost always are full of grievances and wails, because, as they allege, they are being talked about by other people. This has happened in numerous instances in Paris, Ky. Indeed, this is their excuse for the constant use of the "hammer"—that someone is "knocking on them," they mistake the sound of their own "hammers" for that of others. Any man who plots another man's undoing is digging his own grave.

All those plotters of the French Revolution who worked the guillotine in double shifts were themselves dragged to the scaffold and punished under the knife.

The hate that we sow finds lodgment in our hearts, wraps our finer feelings, creates unreasonable prejudice and lasting injustice in almost every instance.

Paris has recently passed through such a maelstrom of gossip and scandal as was never before known, whether it was based upon facts or not, and the time has come now for a dead stop in the matter before some man or woman takes it upon himself or herself to avenge his or her own wrongs.

THE DOLLAR VS. THE SOUL.

(Advertisement.)

The prohibitionists ridicule the idea of the city, county and State losing thousands of dollars in revenue, and say "The whisky people and putting dollars above morals. What is a few thousand dollars compared with one soul?"

It is true that a few thousand dollars is a paltry sum when compared with a human soul, but what assurances do they give that any more souls will be saved when the bootlegger takes the place of the licensed saloon? How many more souls have been saved since Maine was voted dry sixty years ago, than before? The prohibitionists don't care to quote these records, which show 37 per cent. of Kentucky's population are church members, while that of Maine is 29.8.

Yes, a few thousand dollars is indeed a small price for the soul of a man, but when a community loses both, how much does it gain?

MRS. GILTNER'S WILL.

The last will and testament of the late Mrs. Ann Isabelle Giltner, who died at her home in Paris a few weeks ago, has been probated in County Court.

The instrument, which was drawn on April 13, 1914, was witnessed by Messrs. S. E. Bedford and Wm. T. Bryan, of Paris.

The testatrix leaves her real estate in Paris and her farm near Hutchison Station in trust, the income to be equally divided between her children, Mrs. Grace G. Talbot, of Paris, and Mr. William Giltner, of Lexington, for life. In case of death of either child their share in the estate is to revert to the grandchildren of Mrs. Giltner, should any be living. A further provision is also made by the testatrix that in the event both of her children and her grandchildren should all die, that the estate so devised should revert to the W. W. Massie Memorial Hospital, in Paris.

Mrs. Giltner names her daughter, Mrs. Grace G. Talbot as executrix of the estate, and also as trustee for Mr. William Giltner. Under the terms of the instrument no bond is required of Mrs. Talbot in carrying out the provisions of the will.

Mrs. Giltner's estate consists of about two hundred acres of fine land near Hutchison Station, besides several pieces of Paris property. It is said that she was also possessed of a large amount of cash and stock in Louisville and Paris banks, which was distributed among Mrs. Giltner's two children a short time before her death.

Mrs. Talbot appeared before County Clerk Pearce Paton yesterday and qualified as executrix of the estate.

He was a graduate of State College Lexington. Mr. Caldwell had been in poor health several years and this is supposed to have been responsible for his rash act.

This is the latest movement in the Anti-Liquor War. Governor Hanly and Mr. Stewart came to Paris to present the plans and purposes of this organization. "The Flying Squadron will begin its great National-wide campaign on the 30th day of September going into 48 States and 200 of the largest cities. COLONIAL GETS "IRISH."

Mr. McIlhenney's ability as a scenic artist is well-known and he will make a valuable addition to the Colonial force.

Words to the Wise.

Here is a letter received by our dry friends in Lexington some weeks ago which up to this time they have failed to print. It contains so many good things in which all the people of Paris and Bourbon County are interested that we feel impelled to give it to them ourselves.

MR. HENRY LLOYD, Secretary,
Fayette Local Option League,
Lexington, Ky.

DEAR SIR:—

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 26th inst., asking my opinion or observation concerning the operation of prohibition laws in Kentucky. Answering your questions numerically, I believe I can truthfully say:

1. That enmity, strife and bitterness ARE engendered under attempted enforcement of prohibition laws.

2. That prohibition does not prohibit, but places the unlicensed sale of liquors in the hands of irresponsible men, negroes, whites, law-breakers who have little thought of the punishment, even when the are caught, which is infrequent.

3. In the case of Bowling Green, to take a concrete example, the voting out of licensed saloons has materially hurt business, and every man not a fanatic or a politician who is desirous of working on the credulity of the unthinking, will tell you the same.

4. If there has been any diminution in crime, pauperism or insanity, since the county of Warren voted the saloons out of Bowling Green, the records of the court do not show it. There are about the same number of drunks brought before the court as during the period of license, and our county judge, himself an ardent prohibitionist, has his officials out with a dragnet raking in the alleged vagrants. I think I notice in the court columns of my paper to-day where half a dozen "vags" were arraigned in court, and in the same court two persons were to-day adjudged insane and ordered to the asylum.

Mind you, I do not attribute these things to prohibition or the lack of it. Such conditions may be brought about from other sources. It is also probably true that the same hard times could have been brought about with or without saloons. Certain it is that since the saloons closed here six months ago, there has been no improvement in the morals, the religion nor the health of this community.

This is probably not the kind of letter you wanted, but you asked me to tell you, and I have told you as it is, "nor set down aught in malice."

It is possible that in a compact community where there was a strong sentiment against the sale of liquors, it could be done, and should be done. The law of Kentucky where a rural community has a voice in the internal affairs of the city or cities within the county is un-democratic, unjust, and I believe, unconstitutional. Until each community is permitted to settle such matters for itself there will be no good come out of the alleged prohibition laws. And until you can divorce the question from its alleged moral or religious phase, you will always have the enmity, strife and bitterness mentioned in your first paragraph.

I have the honor to be, my dear sir,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed)

EDW. O. LEIGH,

Editor Bowling Green Messenger.

These Questions Are For YOU

What has the saloon ever done for you?

What has the saloon ever done for your family, your relatives and friends?

If you spend one dollar or ten dollars in saloons, what will you have for the money?

If the saloon is good, why keep women and children out of it?

If the saloon is good, why screen windows and doors?

If the saloons is good, why close it when there is a riot?

If the saloon is good, why do police first go there to find criminals when a crime is committed?

If the saloons is good, why close it on Sunday and election day?

If the saloon is good, why tax it $1,000 a year?

Why do not real estate men advertise saloons in their town?

If the saloons is good, why keep it away from church doors, schools and rich men's homes?

Is it not a fact that dry cities are better improved than saloon cities?

Is it not a fact that merchants do better business in dry cities because people are better fed, better clothed and better housed than people in saloon cities?

Why deprive paupers, lunatics, idiots and criminals of the personal liberty of landing upon our shores and grant saloonkeepers the right of manufacturing all of them at home?

If it is right to license the saloon, why is it not right to license gambling houses and other evil institutions?

Because laws against murder, stealing and other crimes are violated, is that any reason why we should do away with such laws?

Because liquor dealers defy laws in order to enrich themselves is that any reason we should surrender and let them crush us?

If it were true that more liquor were sold in dry cities than in wet cities, why do the liquor interests spend millions of dollars to keep cities wet?

If the saloon is good, why is it that brewers and liquor dealers object to rearing their families in saloon territory?

Vote the Saloon Out!

Two blocks of the street between Tenth and Eighth streets have been completed, and the result is emphatically satisfactory, so far as a layman can tell. The pitch of the crown has been lowered slightly, making it safer in sleety, slippery weather. Superintendent Barnett has a large force of expert workmen at work, and says the work will be carried forward as fast as possible, or as long as the good weather holds out.

RECALLS POET TOM MOORE

Historic Old Landmark, Once Center of Diplomatic Residential Center, to Be Razed.

With the coming of the changes contemplated in the dwelling house at 2411 Pennsylvania avenue there will pass away one of the few buildings remaining out of those built in the early part of the last century near Washington circle, when it was the center of the diplomatic residential quarter. It was in this house that the British legation to the infant American republic had its first home—a home modest enough, when judged by the standards of today, but a mansion of superior dignity in those times when measured by the raw and unsightly dwelling houses that first marked the capital.

It was in this house that the poet, Thomas Moore, stayed when, in May, 1805, he visited the city as the guest of Mr. Merry, then the British minister to the United States.

It is to be regretted that the visit of the great Irish bard was not a pleasant one, either for the visitor or the visited. Indeed, every possible adverse circumstance seems to have combined to render that visit an uncomfortable one. Tom Moore, at that time, was the darling of the London drawing rooms, petted by the ladies and patronized by the lords; and the head of the emotional young Irishman was swimming with the adulation paid him by those titled personages, to whom, but a few years before, he, as a simple Irish lad, had looked up to. He was in love with elegance and aristocracy and exclusiveness; hence, he found nothing congenial in the democracy and the free-and-easy manners of Washington society in the administration of Jefferson.

Furthermore, Mr. Merry was an eccentric fellow, with an exaggerated idea of his own importance in the scheme of British national affairs. This weakness it delighted Jefferson to play upon to the top of his bent. When the minister called, decked out in gold and lace—and feeling himself, in fact, as he was in theory, the British crown itself—the president took pains to receive him in an old and tattered dressing gown and slippers that flapped at the heels. This last seems to have been especially painful to Merry, who really played into the political hands of the president by sending home agonized protests against British gold lace being received by American homespun.

Moreover the city was, at that time, overrun by patriotic Irishmen who had escaped from the revolution in their own land and fled to this home of the free. These had engendered even a more bitter sentiment against England and all things English among the people of the capital. It was good politics, too, to hate everything British, and the administration encouraged the feeling.

Into such an unhappy and congenial atmosphere it was that Tom Moore came in the spring of 1805—a household hating and hated by everything American. Even before Moore had met a single soul in the city he had his opinions already cut out for him.

CAPITAL IS WELL LIGHTED

Leads Cities of Same Size With Expenditure of $496,155—First in Defense.

In comparison with eight other cities of the United States of about the same population, Washington varies from first place to last in the matter of funds expended for different municipal activities in 1912, according to figures made public recently by the census bureau.

In street lighting Washington leads all other cities of the group with an expenditure of $496,155. The next city in point of amount of lighting expenditure is Cincinnati, with $412,200. Milwaukee comes last, with $233,197.

The only other item in which Washington stands first is maintenance of militia and armories. For this purpose the capital spent $110,533, Buffalo being next with $84,375.

Second place is taken by Washington in the matter of expense for police. San Francisco alone exceeding it. For protection of both life and property the capital is third, with an expenditure of $2,025,792.

In 1912, Washington spent $1,257,624 in maintaining its streets and highways, $651,628 for sanitation, and $138,624 for conservation of health. Washington stood at the bottom of the list of nine cities in the matter of money expended for conservation of child life, the amount being $5,873. Milwaukee led the list in this regard, with an expenditure of $26,404.

The bulletin gives Washington the highest per capita tax rate of the nine cities, $25.43.

It Sounded Like Money.

A government bureau that compiles and issues all sorts of information concerning natural resources recently sent an analysis of spring water to an inquiring landowner in the far Northwest.

The report named several different mineral constituents found in the water, with the number of parts per million for each. The last substance given was iron, indicated in the list by the chemical symbol "Fe," and the analysis showed thirteen-hundredths of one part of iron. A few days later the bureau received a reply from the inquirer, in which he said, "I notice that your fee is 13 cents. I think that is pretty small, so I inclose a money order for 25 cents."—Youth's Companion.

Mr. Phillips had Stomach Trouble for More than Five Years.

Mr. W. R. Phillips, Jr., 139 Moreland Ave., Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I had the catarrh and stomach trouble for more than five years, and I faithfully tried all the medicines I saw advertised, and found they all failed to cure me. I then heard of Peruna. I purchased six bottles, and after their use I soon discovered that I was well, safe and sound. I now weigh two hundred and ten pounds, and have never been sick since I took Peruna. It surely is the best medicine for colds, stomach trouble and catarrh that I ever heard of."

LUKE McLUKE SAYS.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

The old-fashioned woman who used to get out of the house about once every three years when some one died now has a daughter who is out so much that when she does return she has to look into every room in the house before she can locate the kitchen.

War is hell. A fellow who likes French, German, Russian and Hungarian dishes will have to ascertain the nationality of the waiter before he can order a meal in safety.

The old-fashioned woman who used to keep her coin in a sock under the mattress now has a daughter who is mad all over because her town didn't land a regional reserve bank.

No man ever uses more than three or four keys. But he doesn't imagine he looks important unless he carries about four pounds of junk on his key ring.

No man ever has the Big Time he expected to have when his wife goes out of town.

A woman is a person who will fool around the back porch in an old gunny sack and her bare feet, but who wouldn't think of going out on the front porch unless she had donned glad rags and clean stockings.

HOW CHILDREN GROW.

Children grow by nourishment—not overloaded stomachs or rich foods but qualities that are readily converted into life-sustaining blood; too often their digestive powers cannot procure these qualities from ordinary foods which results in weakness, dullness and sickness.

If your children are under-size, underweight, catch cold easily, are languid, backward, pale or frail, give them Scott's Emulsion which is pure medicinal nourishment. It sharpens the appetite, builds healthy flesh, firm muscles and active brains. Scott's is growing-food for children. Refuse alcoholic substitutes.

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer
Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

What She Really Meant

"I can't see," began the girl who likes to talk, "why the business of being an interpreter doesn't flourish nowadays. I'm thinking of starting out in it myself and I'm sure I'd make a large income. I don't mean interpreting foreign languages, but just plain English!"

"I have learned through painful years of bumping my cranium against stone walls and I yearn to take under my wing all the poor, bewildered mortals who still think the words people use express what they mean. I want to pat them on the back soothingly and murmur 'There! There!' and then explain to them that 'Do you like pink chickens?' really means, 'We came on the 10 o'clock train.'"

"For instance, Mrs. Gamboe calls you up over the phone some morning and says, 'My dear, we're having a few people in to cards tonight and want you to come. I just got it up on the spur of the moment—it's only a little informal affair. Oh, most informal, my dear, I assure you! Just a few friends! So glad you can come! Go-o-o-d-by!'"

"I've seen the time when I'd have dismissed the matter until just before time to dress, when I would not have even glanced at the shelf carrying my party gowns in boxes, but would have picked out some high necked thing. Probably I'd have just worn my hair as I ordinarily do and would have taken a street car to get to the scene of the festivities. But not now!"

"I have grown wiser. I know that the English language does not mean what it is made to say. So I spend all my time after luncheon preparing to go to Mrs. Gamboe's informal little affair. I have my hair dressed and my face massaged, and I get an extra manicure, and I have all my clothes under inspection, and I pick out almost my very best gown. Then I borrow mother's Paris evening wrap and phone for a taxi and wait five minutes in the crush at the door before I can even get in. There will be a Hungarian band playing under the stairs and the whole place will be simply broken out with caterers' men, who pass you along from one to the other solemnly, trying to act as though they had butlered and footmaned in that one spot for several decades, as had their fathers before them."

"By this time I wish I had borrowed mother's diamond tiara, because I begin to feel kind of plain in only a satin and crystal gown and a string of pearls. There will be a four course supper and American beauty roses bursting out from all corners."

"It is really maddening to think what unlimited money and a telephone will do nowadays. It seems to me that they take away all the fun of giving a party, all the worry being removed. These rich women do not have to count their napkins and say, 'My goodness! I'll have to borrow Cousin Nell's best ones to fill out!' They do not discover that they haven't enough forks and that the spare room hasn't been dusted. All they do is phone a caterer and a florist and tell Mary to be sure to see that she dusts extra well downstairs. Then they can go to a luncheon and two teas and make a few calls and when they arrive home at dinner time they say, 'Dear me! I'd almost forgotten that I have a card party tonight!'"

"The only difference when it is considered a formal affair is that you get an engraved old English card ten days in advance."

"Then when you drop in to see a friend and she keeps you waiting half an hour before she comes down, and you say, 'I hope I didn't disturb or interrupt,' and she murmurs sweetly, 'Not at all, my dear! I was just hooking my collar, and I am so slow about doing things!' you would realize, if you had an interpreter at hand, that she meant that she was up in the third floor sewing room working like mad with a seamstress making over clothes and hadn't brushed her hair since she had twisted it into a knob on arising, and had on a kimono thing and old slippers. Also that she said when your card came up, 'Now, what on earth did she come today of all days for, I'd like to know! Isn't it provoking!'"

"My helping hand would be of benefit also to prosy and boresome and spoiled old bachelors when a sweet young thing of 20 leans over and looks into their eyes and beseeches, 'Do tell me all about how you make iron beams! I am so-o-o interested! It must be such a fascinating business!' What she really means is, 'If I can keep you talking to me as though your life depended on it I can get Harry stirred into a perfect fizzle of jealousy. He needs to be taken down a peg or two, the way he's acting of late with that Jenkins girl!'"

"I'm quite charmed with the possibilities of my plan for a new profession!" concluded the girl who likes to talk. "Don't you want to employ me?"

"I do not," emphatically said the man to whom she was talking. "I've already had lesson No. 1—and now please point out which one of those fellows is your Harry!"—Chicago Daily News.

3—HOW ACCOUNTS ARE HANDLED

The rules and methods we have adopted for handling the accounts of our subscribers are based upon sound business reasoning. They have been carefully worked out after long years of experience. They are designed not to work a hardship upon either the telephone subscriber or the telephone company, and are in effect wherever we do business. We handle thousands of accounts every month and there is never a difference which we are not glad to adjust in a courteous manner. The public has access to every official of the company and our desire is that our dealings with the public shall be harmonious, pleasant and satisfactory.

In handling such a large number of accounts, errors are likely to occur. These we willingly correct when our attention is called to them. We insist upon prompt settlement for purely business reasons. We deal with so many people in so many walks of life that prompt collections are essential. We cannot discriminate between subscribers. If our accounts are allowed to remain uncollected indefinitely our loss is greater and the annoyance to the subscriber is increased.

We believe that any business man will approve our collecting and accounting methods when he understands them. We do not act in an arbitrary manner and our constant desire is to show the proper consideration for every subscriber and to indicate our appreciation of the patronage with which we are favored.

Whatever errors occur in telephone bills are not intentional. We do not want any money except that which we have earned by rendering its equivalent in service. We are sure none of our subscribers wish to receive service without paying for it.

HOME TELEPHONE NOTES

The Central Home Telephone and Telegraph Company have inaugurated a system of Operators' Meetings over their entire system, which is proving of much benefit and help to the operating department.

Messrs. B. Y. Chambers, of the Louisville office, J. J. Veatch, W. H. Cannon, Chas. B. Harris and Miss Clencie Lusby, of the Paris office, visited the Cynthia office last night and assisted in the Operators' Meeting for the Cynthia employees. The meeting for to-night is arranged for Maysville and Friday night at Windsor Hotel, Paris, where all of the Paris operators and several visitors will meet and discuss the work of the operators from a practical standpoint with a view of bringing up the efficiency in this department.

DELICACY OF FERN FRONDS.

Not unlike the exquisite maiden-hair fern which hides in the woods are new aigrets of gaura feathers. See the fall hat in the new stove-pipe shape, the harsh lines of which are softened by the feathery aigret. We have an elegant line.

RELIGIOUS.

—The Women's Missionary Society of the Christian Church will meet Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors at 2:30 o'clock.

—Rev. O. R. Mangum will address the Monterey Sunday School next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—Mrs. J. J. Dickey will give an entertainment next Sunday, September 19, in the interest of the temperance movement in Bourbon county, at the Monterey school house. There will be singing and good recitations rendered by ladies and gentlemen from the Hutchison neighborhood.

THEATRICAL.

The Ben Ali, Lexington.

—The Ben Ali will be closed for the balance of this week, owing to repairs being made in the heating apparatus, some few minor defects having been discovered. The house will reopen next Monday, when Ruth St. Denis will appear for one night, to be followed Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with daily matinees, by one of the most beautiful pictures ever thrown on the screen, "Home, Sweet Home." "The Queen of the Movies" comes the 28th and 29th, with a matinee on the 29th. Ruth St. Denis is spoken of in Europe as "The Danse Artist." The title of dancer alone seemingly being inadequate to express the unique originality and charm of her performances. From the language of the London Times—"Miss St. Denis is a true artist, a real enchantress of grace," and to quote the Paris Figaro—"One feels her dance to be a creation of the movement, therefore one enjoys her as something quite extraordinary and uncommonly beautiful, and she holds her audience spellbound by the mystic and decorative element that surrounds her." Ruth St. Denis will appear at the Ben Ali, Monday evening, September 21. (adv)

DEATHS.

SAPP.

—Thomas Henry Sapp, aged one month, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sapp, of Paris, died Tuesday night, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, near Ruddles Mills, after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Sapp was visiting her mother, Mrs. Mitchell, when the baby was taken ill. The burial took place Wednesday afternoon in the Ruddles Mills Cemetery.

EDWARD R. NASH.

—A letter received from Mrs. Alice L. Nash, of Fayetteville, Ark., by her relatives here, announces the death at that place on Sept. 1, of her husband, Edward R. Nash, formerly of this county. Mr. Nash has two sisters residing in Lexington, Misses Cornelia and Julia Nash, on Richmond pike. The funeral and burial took place at Fayetteville. Ed Nash had a host of friends in both Lexington and Paris. He was a soldier in Col. Price's 21st Kentucky Infantry, U. S. A., during the Civil War and returned with his regiment to Lexington at the end of the war. He made his home next in Bourbon county where he had a large circle of friends. He was a brother of the late R. T. Nash, who died some years ago.

CASSIDY.

—Mrs. Laura Cassidy, aged 67 years, the widow of the late J. T. Cassidy, formerly of Bourbon County, and mother Mayor J. Ernest Cassidy, of Lexington, died in that city Tuesday afternoon, following an attack of heart trouble while shopping with her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Demoss, of Lexington.

Mrs. Cassidy had apparently been in excellent health, and while shopping with her daughter, Mrs. Demoss, was suddenly stricken, and was taken to the home of her son, Mr. Samuel Cassidy. She expired on the way before the physician who had been summoned, could reach her.

Mrs. Cassidy is survived by three sons, Mayor J. Ernest Cassidy, Samuel Cassidy and H. K. Cassidy, all of Fayette county, and two daughters, Mrs. Bryant White, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. W. F. Demoss, of Rolla, Miss., who had just arrived the day before for a visit to her mother.

Mayor Cassidy, who had just left for a trip to Daytona, Fla., was intercepted by a telegram telling him of his mother's death and returned on the next train.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy and family were for a long time residents of Shawhan, this county, afterward removing to Paris, where they resided for several years. From here they removed to Lexington. Mr. Cassidy died in Lexington, in December, 1912. The body was taken to Flemingsburg, yesterday morning for burial. Funeral services were held at the grave.

Particular attention has been paid in selecting fall designs in millinery to the needs of the women of our day and in point of excellence and quality her creations have never been surpassed. Be there and see something pleasing to the eye and to all the demands of good taste. (15-2t) MRS. CORNE W. BAIRD.

SCHOOL OPENING DELAYED.

On account of the failure of the contractors to complete the additional room, which had been ordered built, the county school at Clay's Cross Roads was not opened until last Monday, a week after the regular time. The fall term has now opened with an enrollment of seventy-five pupils, and with Misses Susie Clay and Anna Burns as teachers.
